"What or from whence I am or who my sire,
Replied the chief, can Tydeus' son inquire?
Like leaves on trees the race of man is found,
Now green in youth, now withering on the ground;
Another race the following Spring supplies;
They fall successive, and successive rise:
So generations in their course decay;
So flourish these when those are passed away.
But if thou still persist to know my birth,
Then hear a tale that fills the spacious earth."

"Iliad" of Homer, Book VI, Line 180,
Pope's Translation.
